

Persona 2 - Yousef Abdullah

- 21
- full time student
- 45 minutes away from the university
- shared-flat of 4 people, two guys two girls

“Sometimes after a long day of lectures, I’ll just throw something in the microwave and chill in my room”

“Sure, I help out in the flat, but I don’t know if I do too much or too little compared to my flatmates”

Coming from abroad, Yousef Abdullah came to study to Switzerland to experience the Swiss culture and because of the renowned universities. He luckily found a shared-flat not too far from his university and lives with three other people. He’d love to know them better but his studies and the unfamiliar environment, as well as the new responsibilities of adulthood, take up too much time.

- Would love to know if the household work is fairly distributed between all flatmates. He doesn’t realize that he does way less than his flat-mates.

As two of his flatmates grew up in Switzerland and are in their masters, they have managed to find a good way to manage their time. They told him that they feel like they do most of the chores in the flat and they wished that Yousef would also help in the more demanding chores like cleaning the bathroom. They feel like Yousef only does the easy tasks such as cleaning the table after eating. As they don’t have a lot of contact with him they don’t communicate their expectations enough.
